-Who We Are
-What We Do
-What You Need to Know

Why Do I Need a Union?

When workers organize as a union, they have direct input in their pay and working conditions, something non-union workers will never have!

Contract: Every 3-4 years, your Union negotiates a binding contract with the District which decides your pay increases, working conditions, and much more! The Union members get to vote to ratify the contract or send it back to the negotiation table. Members have the power!

Your Union:

- Fights for workplace safety and the best salaries/benefits possible
- Fights against privatization and outsourcing of government jobs
- Fights for members in disciplinary actions
- Speaks truth to power and helps enact pro-union legislation
- Acts as working-class leaders on vital community and social justice issues such as BLM and hunger

Weingarten Rights

Weingarten rights guarantee an employee the right to Union representation during an investigatory interview. These rights, established by the Supreme Court, in 1975 in the case of J'. Weingarten Inc., must be claimed by the employee. The supervisor has no obligation to inform an employee that s/he is entitled to Union representation.

"If this discussion could in any way lead to my being disciplined or terminated, or affect my personal working conditions, I respectfully request that my union representative or steward be present at the meeting. Without representation, I choose not to answer any questions."

Things to keep in mind during your probationary period:

- Your probationary period will be (in most cases) one year from your hire date.
- During probationary periods, management has MORE rights to fire than with permanent employees.
- The Union will assist probationary employees with any proposed disciplinary action, although probationary termination can not be appealed or grieved during this time.
